

An Art Education Program of the
Bucks County Intermediate Unit
705 N. Shady Retreat Rd.
Doylestown PA 18901
215-348-2940

Art on the Move

Collection Descriptions

Collection A

Collection B

Collection C

Collection D

Collection E

Collection F

Collection G

Collection H

Collection I

Collection J

Collection K

Collection A

Ranstead Street, n.d., Walter Emerson Baum

Bus Station, n.d., Joseph Crilley

The Sportsman, n.d. Joseph Crilley

Over the Creek, n.d., Paul L. Gruber

Frontiersman, n.d., James W. Schucker.

Coffee and Fruit, n.d., Maximilian (Maxo) Vanka.

“Collection A” consists of six (6) oil paintings by five (5) artists, specifically, Walter Emerson Baum, Joseph Crilley, Paul L. Gruber, James W. Schucker, and Maximilian Vanka. The paintings cover a variety of topics from street scenes to snow-covered fields to abstract teapots and fruit. Students can study perspective, the artist’s use of shadow and light, and composition to name a few focus areas. Connections to math, science, social studies, for example, are easily made via the interdisciplinary curriculum.

Return to top

Collection B

Allentown Street, n.d., Walter Emerson Baum

The View of Neshaminy at Edison, c. 1935, Sarah Blakeslee

Trout Stream, n.d., Joseph Crailley

Abstraction, n.d., Charles Evans

Prairie Guns, 1944, Charles Hargens

Wycombe at Night, n.d., Harry Leith-Ross

“Collection B” consists of six (6) oil paintings by six (6) artists, specifically, Walter Emerson Baum, Sarah Blakeslee, Joseph Crilley, Charles Evans, Charles Hargens, and Harry Leith-Ross. The different paintings represent the different schools of thought that emerged in the New Hope School of Art – impressionism to the abstract. Several of the artists developed an international reputation. A variety of topics from street scenes to farm scenes to western references provide students the opportunity to study different artistic styles and approaches using multiple contexts.

Return to top

Collection C

Home on the Range, 1944, Charles Hargens

Still Life with Pleading Figure, n.d., Arthur Meltzer

Composition, 1948, Lloyd R. Ney

Springtime in the Catskills, n.d., Kenneth Nunamaker

Bucks County Street Scene, n.d., unknown artist

Buckingham Barn, n.d., Maximilian (Maxo) Vanka

“Collection C” consists of six (6) oil paintings by six (6) artists, specifically, Charles Hargens, Arthur Meltzer, Lloyd R. Ney, Kenneth Nunamaker, Maximilian Vanka, and one unknown artist. Students can study traditional techniques of impressionism but also the techniques of modernism as represented by Lloyd Ney’s work. This collection provides a variety of content that can be used to study perspective, the artist’s use of shadow and light, and composition to name a few focus areas. Connections to math, science, social studies, for example, are easily made via the interdisciplinary curriculum.

Return to top

Collection D

Vase of Flowers, n.d., Walter Emerson Baum

Forbidden Valley, 1955, Charles Hargens

Barn, c. 1955, Joseph Petrilock

Boone Street, Manayunk, n.d. Francis Speight

Winter Afternoon, n.d., Maximilian Vanka

Untitled (Autumn Scene), n.d., Anne Yost

“Collection D” consists of six (6) oil paintings by six (6) artists, specifically, Walter Emerson Baum, Charles Hargens, Joseph Petrilock, Francis Speight, Maximilian Vanka, and Anne Yost. The collection has a wide variety of topics from florals to Western scenes, to farm scenes to abstracts giving students the opportunity to study multiple approaches to creating a painting and an artist’s approach to topic and composition. In addition, topics for social studies, environment studies, geography, cultural and historical studies, descriptive and informational writing as well as math and science (perspective, shadow and light) are easily accessed via the interdisciplinary curriculum.

Return to top

Collection E

Snowstorm-Mill and Homestead at the Edge of Springtown, n.d., Walter Emerson Baum

Heirloom, n.d., Helen Gayman

Cornwall Wharf, England, n.d., Walter Elmer Schofield

Rodeo Rider, n.d., James W. Schucker

Lilacs, n.d., Maximilian Vanka

Allentown, 1956, Anne Yost Whitesell

“Collection E” consists of six (6) oil paintings by six (6) artists, specifically, Walter Emerson Baum, Helen Gayman, Walter Elmer Schofield, James W. Schucker, and Maximilian Vanka. The collection provides a variety of topics and artistic styles that provide the opportunity for students to learn how different artists approach their work. The topics allow for social studies, geography, science, and language arts connections to name a few.

Return to top

Collection F

The Swimming Hole, n.d., George Bentzley

The Willow, n.d., Ben Solowey

Knight's Farm-Winter, n.d., Arthur Meltzer

Old Movie Theater, 1978, Harry Walker

Jersey Landscape, n.d., Elizabeth Ruggles

Mixed Mums, 1954, Anne Yost Whitesell

'Collection F" consists of six (6) oil paintings by six (6) artists, specifically, George Bentzley, Arthur Meltzer, Elizabeth Ruggles, Ben Solowey, Harry Walker, and Anne Yost Whitesell. This collection has several nature-oriented topics and two unrelated topics of still-life florals and the inside of an old movie theater. This collection provides an opportunity to study how artists approach landscape paintings as opposed to still-life paintings. Connections to math, science, social studies, for example, are easily made via the interdisciplinary curriculum.

Return to top

Collection G

Winter's First Snow, 1925, Walter Emerson Baum

Corn Harvest, n.d., George Bentzley

Santa Margherita, 1930, Susan Schneider

We All hang Together, n.d., John Sharp

Music by Candlelight, n.d., Anne Yost Whitesell

Nunamaker Farm, n.d., Anne Yost Whitesell

“Collection G” consists of six (6) oil paintings by five (5) artists, specifically, Walter Emerson Baum, George Bentzley, Susan Schneider, John Sharp, and Anne Yost Whitesell. The themes of the paintings lend themselves to geographical connections of place and culture, ways of life, and seasons as well as language arts topics of symbolism and metaphor.

Return to top

Collection H

Winter Street Scene, 1956, Walter Emerson Baum

Smithtown-Tinicum Canal Locks, n.d., June Pfifer Delph

Contour Planting, n.d., Angelica King

Peace of Mind, n.d., Roy Nuse

Trawlers Coaling, Boulogne, n.d., Walter Elmer Schofield

The Cuttalossa, n.d., William Francis Taylor

“Collection H” consists of six (6) oil paintings by six (6) artists, specifically, Walter Emerson Baum, June Pfifer Delph, Angelica King, Roy Nuse, Walter Elmer Schofield, and William Francis Taylor. This Collection gives students the opportunity to study multiple approaches to creating a painting and an artist’s approach to topic and composition. In addition, topics for social studies, environment studies, geography, cultural and historical studies, descriptive and informational writing as well as math and science (perspective, shadow and light) are easily accessed via the interdisciplinary curriculum.

Return to top

Collection I

The Journey, c. 1990, Selma Bortner

Early Light, 1984, Vincent Ceglia

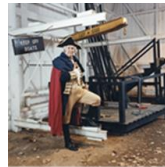

Orpheus I, 1997, Paul Keene

Jazz Series #4, Chicago Blues, 1983, Paul Keene

The Buffalo Jump Called Chugwater and an Irrigation Pivot near Wheatland, Wyoming, 1991, Emmet Gowin

James Gallagher as George Washington, 1992, David Graham

“Collection I” consists of six (6) pieces by five (5) artists, specifically, Selma Bortner, Vincent Ceglia, Paul Keene, Emmet Gowin, and David Graham. This collection is the first AOTM collection that features contemporary pieces that were acquired since 2005. The collection includes collage, mixed media, prints, pencil drawing, and photographs. Students will be able to analyze contemporary and modern art as well as the differences in the multiple mediums used. Using language arts standards, students will be able to study the approach to art through various themes including humor, fantasy, and surrealism.

Return to top

Collection J

Zee Lover Boy, 2010, Stacie Speer Scott

Pink Water Ring, 2011, Gwendolyn Kerber

Water Ring, 2011, Gwendolyn Kerber

Chigi, n.d., Robert G. Dodge

Distant Light, n.d., Annelies Van Dommelen

Barn Silo, n.d., Bruce Katsiff.

“Collection J” consists of seven (7) pieces by six (6) artists, specifically, Stacie Speer Scott, Gwendolyn Kerber, Robert G. Dodge, Annelies Van Dommelen, and Bruce Katsiff. The collection, as does Collection I, consists of contemporary acquisitions of the Art Collection and includes oil paintings, collage, mixed media, and a photograph.

Return to top

Collection K

Moods Covered Bridge, c. 1960, George Bentzley

Brewster Inlet, Cape Cod, 1949, Ranulph Bye

Androgynous, n.d., Alan Goldstein

Rooftops, c. 2010, Bruce Katsiff

Ross Office, c. 1970, Katherine Steele Renninger

East Gloucester Harbor, Massachusetts, c. 1959, Melville F. Stark

“Collection K” consists of six (6) pieces by six (6) artists, specifically, George Bentzley, Ranulph Bye, Alan Goldstein, Bruce Katsiff, Katherine Renninger, and Melville F. Stark. The Collection includes work by both contemporary and first half of the 20th Century artists. These pieces were selected to support the curricular connection to STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art, and Mathematics).

Return to top